FROM THE RABBI'S STUDY

When to Stand and When to Sit

There is an old joke about a congregation where half the worshippers stand for the Kaddish Shalem and half sit. A visitor asks the rabbi, “Why do half the people stand?” The rabbi answers, “Because that’s tradition.” The visitor asks: “So why do half sit?” The rabbi answers, “That too is tradition.” The visitor exclaims, “But how can you have a shul where half sit and half stand?” “Ah!” says the rabbi. “That is the tradition!”

There are almost as many variations on when to sit and when to stand in Jewish liturgy as there are pages in the prayer book. I would like to take this space to discuss a few of those places where I invite sitting or standing but where there are other customs to the contrary.

There are certain places where the motion of standing seems to me to be tied to a key word in the text. I will point out three examples here. One of those is when we rise in anticipation of the Shaharit amidah. In the Shabbat prayer book this appears on page 114. Some traditions call for standing at the start of Mi Khamokha. In my opinion, it is better to stand at Tzur Yisrael because of the third word kumah, which means “rise.” Also, there are some traditions to stand at the start of the repetition of the Amidah. I prefer the custom of rising especially for the Kedushah (page 116), and this because of the word marom, meaning “above” referring to the heavens where the angels praise God. Through the Kedushah we imitate the actions of the angels. Finally, on page 141 when the sifrei Torah are held facing the congregation just before the processional, after the Shema and Ehad, we all bow at Gadlu but I notice many ending their bow before I do. As I learned it, one rises only at uneromema, which comes from the same root as marom meaning “height” as in we will raise up (“exalt”) God’s name.

At a Ritual committee meeting a few months ago I asked the committee for its endorsement of my recommendation to the congregation to be seated for the first page of the Cantor’s repetition of the Amidah prior to the Kedushah. Apparently, that was the earlier practice at Temple Israel but was changed in more recent years to standing from the beginning of the Amidah. I have mentioned above why I feel it is powerful to stand just leading into the Kedushah. This is one of those many areas where customs differ, although I believe that the custom of not standing for the first page is the more traditional one. Although in the traditional Conservative synagogue where I grew up the congregation did stand, I have not seen the congregation stand for that page in any of the Ashkenazic Orthodox communities I have visited here or in Israel. I can only suspect that the custom of standing began at some point in order to draw the congregation’s attention to the repetition and end the noise that is perhaps caused by chatter after the conclusion of the silent Amidah. I consulted the Shulhan Arukh, the authoritative sixteenth century code of Jewish law, where it says that there are some customs of standing for the entirety of the repetition, in order to give it gravitas. In fact, the Sephardic custom is for the congregation to stand for the entirety of the repetition. The Shulhan Arukh and the various commentaries explain that “all is according to custom.” But while there is a custom to stand for the entirety, I have not been able to find a source (although that is not to say that it does not exist!) for the custom of standing only for the beginning of the repetition but then sitting after the Kedushah. From a liturgical perspective, the pages after the Kedushah are no less important than the one before. It is for these various reasons that I recommend to the congregation to sit after the completion of the silent Amidah.

As in all cases of standing and sitting, “all is according to custom” and anyone who chooses to sit or stand when others in the congregation are doing otherwise because of variant custom should of course be respected. I will conclude these reflections with an image that I will always carry with me of when I was a college rabbi and used to lead Friday night services. The student congregation I had was made of roughly half who grew up in Conservative synagogues and half in Reform. The Reform have the custom of standing for the Shema (because of its central importance in the liturgy) whereas we do not (because it is essentially a reading of Scripture rather than a prayer addressed to God). Also, the Reform have the custom of all standing for the Mourner’s Kaddish (in solidarity with the many losses in the Holocaust with no survivors to mourn), whereas we do not (in order to build solidarity among the sub-community in the congregation who are in real mourning, and to reserve the “power” of that experience for the times that none of us look forward to). So, in my student congregation, whenever we did the Shema and then at the end of the service the Mourner’s Kaddish, half the students would be standing and the other half would be sitting. When I think back at that image, I am reminded of the ideal that we must always strive to understand and appreciate the differences in prayer customs and that by doing so we will come to better understand each other.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Community building is a difficult task. Ask ten people their thoughts on the subject and you will get 27 opinions (2.7 opinions per Jew are fairly accurate). Two recent events at Temple Israel were perfect examples of what it means to build community and the positive results they produce.

Every year on the Shabbat of Passover, we celebrate Torah Club Shabbat, an event and program unique to Temple Israel. We let Torah Club participants and alumni take over the sanctuary and run our service from top to bottom. Sometimes we take for granted that our youth possess such a remarkable degree of synagogue skills. It is a credit to our education system, our clergy and our leadership that this is possible. We make our synagogue a hospitable place for all. It is a place of learning where all have the opportunity to participate and grow. Our children are fortunate that our community culture nurtures and encourages such learning. Sometimes I feel quite fortunate to be able to sit on the Bimah and watch as our children and community grow together.

That brings me to another recent event. Barbara Schneider recently celebrated a significant birthday (I think it was 30 or something like that). She chose to celebrate it by challenging herself and reading Haftorah for the first time. She shared the joy of her achievement and her life cycle event with the entire congregation. I would like to encourage more of you to do the same. Not to necessarily read Torah or Haftorah, though the achievement is admirable and noteworthy, but to celebrate your lifecycle events with the community. We want to share in your joy and be part of your lives. I was honored that Barbara chose to include the Temple Israel community in her celebration. Please honor us with yours.

We have another chance to grow together as a community. There is still limited space on our synagogue trip to Israel. I can not think of a better way to grow together than to travel through Israel with my fellow congregants and who better to guide us than Rabbi Fine. Consider going while there is still space available.

Rabbi Jacobson was the first rabbi to have given the keynote address to the U.S. military chaplains and to the 34,000 employees of the National Security Agency.

This program is sponsored by the Barry H. Glick Chesed Endowment Fund

NNJJA DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

In April, our oldest students participated in two very special Yom Hashoah, Holocaust programs. On April 18, our Kitah Dalet and Kitah Hey students helped by participating in the Jewish Federation Yom Hashoah program at Temple Beth Sholom, along with other students from Bergen County area day schools and religious schools. They were part of a contingent of 69 students who represented the 69th anniversary of the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising.

At the end of April and the beginning of May our Kitah Hey students will also be participating in the Holocaust Intergenerational Legacy Project of the Jewish Family Services of Fair Lawn (JFS). The project will provide the students with an opportunity for cultural growth through personal contact with Holocaust survivors and focus on their strength and resilience. We will have two sessions of this program. First the students will be trained in interviewing skills and sensitized to issues, not only of aging but what to expect when they interact with survivors. Through interactive role plays, they will be encouraged to develop questions for the survivors. The following week survivors will be brought to the school to be interviewed.

Students will work in small groups and interview a survivor. Sample questions will be provided and cover the Holocaust experience as well as pre- and post- Holocaust experience. JFS staff will be present during the interview period to answer questions, assist the students and respond to the survivor's response to the questions. This is going to be a wonderful and enriching program for the Kitah Hey students as they are about to graduate and will have this as one of their last workshops at NNJJA.

On May 20, our last day of school, we will have our 3rd annual Maccabia for Yom Yerushalayim this year. The entire school will participate! Our students will be divided into two teams, BLUE and WHITE and the 7th grade team captains will lead them in cheers and games and relays and songs and capture the flag.

Usually we celebrate Lag B'Omer after we finish our Maccabia games. Our Maccabia is not really a reenactment of the Jewish-Roman war, which is the historical background for Lag B'Omer, but rather an opportunity for our students to celebrate together, to go out in the fields, (or at least the Temple Israel front lawn) and to play and enjoy and create a sense of community. This year Lag B'Omer falls earlier in the calendar, so we are also celebrating Yom Yerushalayim, the day of Jerusalem's unification during the Six Day War in 1967. If you don't have a child in the school but would like to come watch the games, we'd be happy to have you visit us from 9:30am-11:30am on May 20. Afterward, we will all move to the parking lot for the Men's Club annual BBQ and carnival.

Don't Forget:

May 11 – Family Service

May 12 – Aleph Siddur Ceremony

May 19 – Last Junior Congregation

May 20 – Maccabia Games and Last Day of school

May 20-May 29 - Tefillah Goal Testing for any students who need extra time

June 1 – Graduation and Moving Up Ceremonies 7:30pm

BRANDEIS MEN'S CLUB

bmc@synagogue.org

Men's Club Weekend on March 24-25 featured a high level of participation from many of our members at Shabbat services. That Shabbat there were three Torahs used so there were plenty of honors to go around, and it was great to see how many men willingly, and capably, handled them!

On Sunday, we honored our Man of the Year-Bob Obeiter with much praise and adulation, and a few cheap shots at Bob as well. Bob's kids had to think hard and long to come up some fun shots at him, but we almost had to give them a time limit! A lot of people attended this memorable event and it was great to see how full the room was for this annual brunch honoring Bob. Bob was presented with our most prestigious Harry Grant Award as the Brandeis Men's Club MOY. There is no better deserving individual than Bob! Mazel Tov to him and his family

We honored all the past Men's Club Presidents, and the descendants of our dearly departed Past Presidents. The picture here shows the recipients: Bob Rohrberger, Eric Klein, Denis Vogel, Joe Wechsler, David Weiss, Phil Brody, Pam Grant, Myron Weiner, Susan Greenbaum, and Jackie Crane.

The Men's Club will again be hosting the annual Lag B'Omer picnic in our temple parking lot on Sunday, May 20. We'll have a kosher BBQ with plenty of food and drinks for all, games, music, and a very fun time for both parents and our kids. Please check the weekly announcements for the exact hours (approx 11:30am – 2:00pm)!

The Men's Club's annual Golf Outing will be held on June 14.

Todah Rabah to all who generously supported the Men's Club's annual Yom Hashoah candle program with your donations. We are glad to sponsor this very important program!

B' Shalom,
Howard Schreiber, President

YOUTH HAPPENINGS

El Al has had a wonderful year with very high participation in all of our events. Highlights have included ice skating at the Ice House, Monster Golf indoor glow-in-the-dark putt-putt, and of course our annual Chocolate Seder. We held our April event in the newly painted and cleaned up youth lounge. We are very excited that after an entire year with no lounge, we are back in shul basement!

Our final event will be May 20 – we will be taking a Spring Hike in Ramapo Reservation. Parent chaperones are needed. Please let Rabbi Sharon know if you can drive and chaperone. This event is open to our incoming El Al-niks, those who are finishing 3rd grade. We will say goodbye to our 5th graders who are heading off to Kadima!

We will be leaving Temple Israel 12:45 and returning at 3:15. Please bring a bag lunch, water bottle and sunscreen.

Looking forward to hiking around with you!

-Rabbi Sharon

Another great year of Kadima is coming to an end. Lounge night this month will be Wednesday, May 16 and our event for this month will be on Sunday, May 20. We are going to bring a picnic lunch and go hiking at Ramapo Reservation. Hopefully we will have beautiful weather and delight in the last Kadima event outside enjoying nature together.

Watch for emails about upcoming events. If you are not receiving our info please send an email to dan.unger@hotmail.com

OPPORTUNITIES FOR GIVING

While Judaism itself can thrive without reference to finances, a community of Jews who are committed to the purpose of the synagogue—learning, worship, and fellowship—does need financial resources to help each other and themselves.

Most of us recognize our obligation to maintain membership in Temple Israel and to support it by payment of annual dues. However, dues alone do not cover all of our costs. There is a continuing need for donations to help assure the synagogue's strength and development.
